

BRIEF INTRODUCTION ABOUT THE SOCIETY OF PETROLEUM GEOPHYSICISTS

The Society of Petroleum Geophysicists (SPG) is established for the purpose of raising the level of its members' technological knowledges and of developing the petroleum geophysical industry of China.

In the council of the society there are honorary presidents, president, vice-presidents, secretary-general, vice secretaries-general and directors. They, except honorary presidents, form a standing committee to exercise the authority of the council.

The society will hold a relatively large anniversary meeting and some forums on techniques each year. It will also offer some training courses and conduct some academic activities.

SPG publishes a bimonthly journal named OIL GEOPHYSICAL PROSPECTING reporting new techniques and new ideas on petroleum geophysics.

SPG has a department of materials and literatures.

The leading members of the council are:
